

Search within reviews

Sort by Welp Sort ▾

Get Directions

Message Business

Start your review of Scream-a-Rama at Stella Park.

11:58 PM, November 21

ROTD 11/24 and 1 other

THE WORST. If I could give negative stars, I would!!

Our experience today was a nightmare. Where do I even start? Long story short, we waited in line for over FORTY-FIVE MINUTES to visit this dinky little "attraction" and never even got to set foot inside. At first, we were told there were "mechanical problems." No big deal!!! My daughter and I waited patiently, as we are season passholders at SEVERAL theme parks and we understand that things do go wrong. Also, let me just say that I am a very, VERY easy-going person. However, when the "expert" addressing these mechanical problems is Scream-a-Rama's gangly-looking-ride operator—who, BTW, is armed with only a wrench and a roll of duct tape—that doesn't exactly inspire confidence. I couldn't help but wonder... will my friends be hearing about my "tragic theme park accident" on the 6 o'clock news?

After what feels like an eternity, this kid assures us that Scream-a-Rama is good to go. Then (while we're STILL waiting, wondering if it's even safe to ride this piece of junk), a scary-looking guy sporting some pretty hideous tattoos (one of Stella Park's many fine upstanding citizens, I'm sure!!!) walks up, grabs Mr. Duct Tape by the collar, and shoves a dirty napkin in his hand. Then, the kid just shuts everything down and literally LEAVES THE RIDE with this low-life... Oh and P.S., this is all happening 15 MINUTES before closing with 30 angry customers waiting in line! Perfect timing!!!!

Hours later, my daughter is STILL crying because all she wanted to do was ride Scream-a-Rama, and I am not exaggerating one bit when I say this incident was truly traumatic for her. (She is very sensitive.) I emailed the park's owner, Vince Stella, directly and received a reply just moments ago. Not only did he refuse to refund my money, he told me (in some very colorful language) to "get a ^$*@$! life." CONGRATULATIONS, VINCE, YOU HAVE DESTROYED A LITTLE GIRL'S DAY AT THE BEACH. SHAME ON YOU! I HOPE YOU CHOKE ON SOME OF THAT UNBELIEVABLY DRY STELLA PARK FUNNEL CAKE!!!!!!!!!!!!

I regret only four, maybe five, things in my entire life, and this is one of them. Save your money, people!!! YOU'LL THANK ME!!!!!!!!!!!!!!!!!!!!

45 helpful

4 awesome

72 shocking

52 funny